

Connecting
those in need with those who heal, faster.

Every second is critical.

Yet every day, patient transfers take hours.

Right now, if a patient needs access to another care setting, it's often up to the clinician to coordinate this. And without an orchestration system in place, the process can be tedious and prolonged.

Typically, the clinician is left to make phone calls. Wait for call backs. Try to find out where a bed, unit, or post-acute resource is available. Or which physician is on call at the accepting facility. Meanwhile, the hours tick by. The patient is waiting, care is postponed — but there are no other options.

Every patient deserves the highest quality care. So every transfer — whether it's to or from an acute or post-acute care setting — should occur without delay, without compromise, without exceptions.

BECAUSE THIS DANGEROUS WAITING GAME COSTS TIME, MONEY, AND MOST IMPORTANTLY, LIVES.

Empowering you to take charge.

If there was a way to connect the disconnected, the entire care continuum would be elevated. Clinicians would have the data they need, right at their fingertips. Transfers and care transitions could be done quickly and easily, so doctors could spend more time with patients — instead of on the phone.

Patients would have a better experience — and better outcomes.

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO BE A CATALYST FOR CHANGE.

A solution that brings calm to chaos.

Imagine what would happen if you removed the friction of arranging care setting transitions by putting the right people and the right tools in place.

Clinicians no longer have to focus on administrative tasks. Patients get to the right care setting faster. Staffed beds become available. More physicians start referring to your hospital because they have a seamless experience. Patient leakage is reduced. The chaos that creates excess days is eliminated. Ultimately, more new patients are admitted. Revenue grows. Market share is boosted. And sustainable margins are achieved.

YOU CAN THEN INVEST THOSE DOLLARS IN EVEN BETTER PATIENT CARE.

A new path to growth is here.

The wait is over. We're on a mission to make healthcare better for everyone.

Our end-to-end solution empowers you to operate as one connected network of care, orchestrating access and seamlessly managing transfers. So you can get every patient to the right place. Not in hours. In minutes.

Leverage our expertise to optimize workflow, drive best practices, rebuild fragmented processes and create predictability and repeatability. We'll help elevate revenue capture, clinician effectiveness, and patient outcomes.

IT'S NOT A BETTER WAY. IT'S THE ONLY WAY. AND IT'S ABOUT TO CHANGE EVERYTHING.

Our impact.
